Notice: Parent Water Safety Training - Content Disclaimer

Dear Parents/Guardians,

We are writing to inform you about the content of the Judah Brown Project Parent Water Safety Training, which contains mature subject matter. By allowing your children to attend this training, you do so at your own risk, acknowledging the mature nature of the content.

1) Mature Subject Matter: The Parent Water Safety Training program covers various topics related to water safety, including but not limited to drowning prevention, emergency response, and responsible supervision. Due to the nature of these subjects, the training may include discussions, demonstrations, or visual materials that some individuals may consider mature or sensitive. This could include graphic content related to accidents, injuries, or potential dangers associated with water activities.

2) Parental Responsibility: As a parent/guardian, it is your responsibility to determine whether your child is ready and able to handle the mature content presented in the training. We recommend that you preview the material and consider the emotional maturity and sensitivity of your child before allowing them to participate. Please be aware that allowing your child to attend the training implies that you accept the risks associated with exposure to mature subject matter.

3) Content Discretion: The Judah Brown Project takes precautions to present the training content responsibly and professionally. However, we cannot guarantee that all participants will react to the material in the same way. We encourage you to engage in open discussions with your child regarding the topics covered in the training, provide them with appropriate guidance, and address any questions or concerns they may have.

4) Release of Liability: By allowing your child to attend the Parent Water Safety Training, you acknowledge and agree to release the Judah Brown Project, its trainers, instructors, and associated personnel from any liability or claims arising from your child's exposure to the mature content presented in the training. You understand that your child's participation is entirely voluntary and that you have the final decision-making authority regarding their involvement.

We strongly encourage you to engage in ongoing communication with your child, providing them with the necessary guidance and support as they navigate the topics covered in the training.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the content or its appropriateness, please feel free to contact us.

Thank you for your attention and understanding.
Sincerely,

Christi Brown
