Dear Judah Brown Supporter,

Little Annabella is on the Autism Spectrum. She cannot speak or ask for help. Because she is Autistic, she is also 160 times more likely to drown than her neurotypical peers.

Like most kids with Autism, she loves water. It feels good to her. It calms her nervous system. She is drawn to it but she was also afraid to get her face wet, which made learning survival skills almost impossible for mom to do with her on her own. Mom worried that Annabella would find water and get in it impulsively, panic when it hit her face and then drown.

Because she does love water so much and she, like many kids with autism, wanders and goes to water if she sees it, she absolutely must have the needed skills to survive in it.

In 2025, we were able to help little Annabella overcome her fear and learn how to save her own life, if she were ever to wander and find water alone. Her scholarship was only possible because of your generous donations. Her life is protected because of YOU!

This is what a Judah Brown Project scholarship can do. This is what sponsoring a child to swim through the Judah Brown Project can do. This is what YOU can do.

In 2025, we were able to give 29 swim scholarships to children across the USA. We've also expanded our reach in so many other ways:

- Our water safety curriculum reached over 5,000 students and parents last year.
- Our message has reached over 4 million people on social media, spreading life-saving awareness about drowning prevention.

None of this would be possible without the incredible support of people like you.

But we need your help now more than ever. Your donation today will allow us to continue providing scholarships to families in need, bring water safety education to more schools, and expand our programs to reach even more lives.

Swim season is coming soon and when it does, so do drownings. We want to prepare as many kids to be safe in the water as possible before the season here! This is where you can make a direct impact on saving little lives.

Here is what we need:

1) This year we are focusing on skilling as many kids in the water as we possibly can, so we are using the majority of our donations for this program. Our foundational goal is to make sure that children can save themselves if they were ever to fall into water alone. This program is critical to that mission.

2) We always need undesignated funding so that our staff can continue the hard, dedicated work of saving little lives.

By giving, you will help us substantially broaden our impact.

Together, we can save little lives.

Please consider making a swim season gift to the Judah Brown Project, and help us continue our mission to prevent childhood drowning. What a beautiful gift that would be for these families who would not be able to afford these life saving lessons without the help of JBP.

With heartfelt gratitude,

Christi Brown
